Lab Test Information Guide Changes

Effective June 6, 2022 the Lab Test Information Guide will have a new look.

The screenshot shows the Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre website. The main banner for the Lab Test Information Guide includes the text: "LAB TEST INFORMATION GUIDE" and "CHOOSE LABS WISELY! DO NOT PLACE REPEAT ORDERS ORDER ONCE & REASSESS". Below the banner, the page is titled "Looking for a lab test?" and provides instructions on how to search for tests. A grid of letter buttons (A-Z) is provided for navigation. An "Additional information" box on the right contains the following points:

- Microbiology tests performed at Shared Hospital Labs
- Forms, collection instructions, ECG, etc.
- Collection Centre information details for registered Sunnybrook patients - please visit Sunnynet
- Do not take biotin before blood work (Patient and Family Education material)

The content has not changed, just the formatting.

Tests can be searched by either letter or key word, with the Biochemistry and Hematology tests still available via the Reference Test Manual.

The lab test information can be found here: <https://sunnybrook.ca/content/?page=dept-labs-labtest>

The new version will appear on June 6th at this link.

Thank you.
